Methodology – Analysis was completed during the period of April 3 and April 13, 2009, based on examining the public DNS records of the brands and governmental agencies, as well as examining over 30 million emails sent to consumers purporting to come from the legitimate brand and domain. Data was provided in part by Microsoft Corporation, IronPort Systems, MX Logic and Return Path Inc. Ranking of ecommerce brands is based on data published by the Fortune 500. For data consistency, the 2008 ranking were used. Company rankings may have changed but have not materially impacted this analysis more than +/-2%. Pass or non-complying grades were based on the ability to validate the use of email authentication standards including SPF/Sender ID or DomainKeys Identified Email (DKIM) at the corporate domain level. Organizations using test SPF records ending in ?all were rate as non-complying since by design they cannot be utilized by receiving networks.

Note some of these organizations may employ third party solutions which may validate the authenticity of their email from these domains as well as marketing domains. The focus of this research is on the domains most recognized by the consumer and on SPF/SenderID and DKIM, open standards that are broadly deployed by ISPs, mail hosters and business MTAs. Some organizations may employ third party solutions which validate the authenticity and integrity of some or all of their email from these domains as well as marketing domains. While not included in this research, third party solutions such as Goodmail CertifiedEmail, Iconix, PGP, S/MIME, IronPort PXE Encryption merit consideration based on the value offered and/or regulatory requirements..
